

Impact of covid-19 on people with cerebral palsy in the process of ageing

María Yolanda González-Alonso*; Raquel Aceves Díez**; Mónica Cano-Rosás***

*Universidad de Burgos (Spain); **Federación ASPACE CyL, (Spain); ***Universidad de Salamanca (Spain)

INTRODUCTION

METHOD

OBJETIVE

•To analyse the impact of confinement through the demands made by elderly people with cerebral palsy and the prevention and coping strategies offered to the group and their families

Causes

Effects

Recommendations

RESULTS

Specific requests

n=30

Requests

- Information
- Advice
- Support
- Services
- Treatments
- Death

Causes

Closure of centres

Loss of rotaries

Lack of therapies

Economic and social resources

Death

Effects

Stress

Sleep and health problems

Behavioural problems

Fear

Impairment

Recommendations

Carrying out activities

Maintaining routines

Emotional support

Personal assistance

Coordination between services

CONCLUSIONS

The physical, mental and social effects

New supports

Personalized, safe and quality care

Coping with future crises